Here is our living room. When we first moved in, this room was covered in icky wallpaper and light blue paint. We took that down and painted it a dark red--Barbie Red. I like the red, but it's so dark in here. We tried adding a new light fixture and some artwork, but still very dark. So I painted the Kenya (sort of a wheat color) to add some lightness. I can't decide if I like the color combos. It's definitely strong. Reminds me of Mardi Gras. :) - Updating the house...

UPDATING THE HOUSE...

Sunday, June 6th, 9:34 PM

This is our bedroom. This room had at least 5 layers of wallpaper when we moved in. We took all of that down and painted it a "Peruvian Lilly" which was a reddish color. It looked orange on the walls though. I liked it a lot, but then we got a new sink for the the master bath that has blue/green granite countertop. So I found this color to match it. It's called Silver Hill, but it's sort of a grey-blue slate color. It looks AWESOME!
